

Masses in Oughterard Church in the near future

Thanks to the partial lifting of Covid-19 restrictions, it is now possible to meet in limited gatherings of 50 people or less.

If you would like to be present for one of the Masses listed below, it is recommended that you visit the church beforehand and put the names of those people who wish to attend into the box to be found on a table next to the candelabras.

To bring some structure to requests that are not tied to anniversary Masses, those people to the Galway side of the Owenriff river are suggested to attend every second week starting from Saturday 11th July. Those to the Clifden side of the Owenriff river are suggested to attend every second week starting from Saturday 18th July.

Please arrive 10 to 15 minutes before Mass is due to start. Do not come to Mass if you are feeling unwell, have a temperature, or have been in contact with a person with Covid-19 symptoms in the previous two weeks. Masks are recommended but optional.

Social distancing measures are in place in the church, and we ask for an orderly queue before entering by the town side doorway.

Wishing you the Lord's blessing & protection,

Fr Michael Connolly pp.
